etion in the minds of the members of the Cabinet as to whether the President ought to sign a written deposition in taking the oath or whether he should take the oath and sign the paper afterward.

SECRETARY ROOT SPEAKS.

A minute or two after 3:30 o'clock Secre tary Root released the President's arm and stepped back toward the middle of the The President turned around and stood before the high window. Behind him was the delicate fabric of the vines which hung from the veranda pillar.

There was a moment of absolute silence. which was broken by a sparrow which alighted on the window and chattered for ment. The trivial sound accentuated the previous silence and the feeling which had caused it. The members of the Cabinet and the other persons present gathered in a small semi-circle behind Secretary

"Mr. Vice-President," he began, "I---Here the Secretary of War choked, he dropped his head and was silent for almost two minutes. No one stirred. Mr. Roosevelt's eyes filled with tears and hi- face was set in a stern effort at self-control. Mr. Root raised his head and in a voice that was tremulous with feeling, but speaking with the utmost deliberation and clear-

"I have been requested on behalf of the Cabinet of the late President, at least on behalf of these who are present in Buffalo all except two, to request that for reasons of weight affecting the Administration stitutional office of President of the United

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT'S ANS WER

Judge Hazel stepped forward and stood beside Secretary Root, facing Mr. Roosevelt. The new President reached up and took hold of the lapel of the frock coat which he wore and after one or two quick efforts to control himself began speaking. He, too, had difficulty in governing his voice and in keeping down his emotion. He spoke very slowly. He said:

"I shall take the oath at once in response to your request; and in this hour of deep and terrbile national bereavement I wish to state that it shall be my aim to continue absolutely unbroken the policy of Presi dent McKinley for the peace and prosperity of our beloved country."

THE OATH ADMINISTRAND.

Mr. Roosevelt stepped back into the recess of the window and Judge Hazel advanced toward him. In the Judge's hand was an engrossed copy of the oath.

"Please raise your right hand and repeat after me," said Judge Hazel. Mr. Roosevelt raised his hand. Judge Hazel read the oath clause by clause and phrase by phrase, and at each pause, President Roosewelt, with an intense earnestness which has always characterized him when speaking, repeated the words.

I. Theodore Roosevelt, do solemnly swear that I will faithfully execute," said the new President, and then the outh continued, "the office of President of the United States and will to the best of my ability preserve, protect and defend the Constitution of the United States "And thus I swear." added the new Prestdent after a pause before he dropped his hand to his side. His head was bowed on President McKinley lay dead. When his breast. There were sounds which told his eye lighted on the military and police been able to maintain his composure., It head and spoke.

"Now," he said questioningly to Judge

"Mr. President," said Judge Hasel, handing the engrossed oath to him, "please attach your signature."

The President turned to a table near the window and wrote near the bottom of the document in the homely characters which have always distinguished his handwriting, "Theodore Roosevelt."

After signing the document he turned to the others in the room and said:

"I should like to see the members of the Cabinet for a few moments after the others have retired." Then, with the traces of the feeling he had shown while accepting and assuming the office, still discoverable by his voice, he advanced gravely to the members of the Cabinet.

He shook hands with every one in the room, and then all except the members of the Cabinet filed out.

HIS FIRST CABINET MEETING.

President Roosevelt's first Cabinet meeting was held in the same room in which he had been sworn in. It lasted for nearly en hour. When it was over it was announced with authority that the deliberations had all tended toward ascertaining the best way in which the sentiment which the President had expressed in accepting office might be carried into action. It was agreed in the consultation that the first and most important step was the retention in office of all the members of President McKinley's Cabinet.

The Kembers of the Cabinet are urged to retain their portfolios, even at the expense to themselves of some personal sacrifice. It was announced that the greatdent had received assurances from Secretary Hay and Secretary Gage that the would follow the same course.

NO EXTRA SESSION There is no Constitutional requirement that Congress shall be called together upon the succession of the Vice-President to the Presidency. and it seemed advisable in pursuing the one object which the President and his Cabinet had in view that the even tenor of the country's way would be better preserved if Congress were not called together until its regular time for meeting. The President, it was announced, would go to Washington with his Cabinet, accompanying the body of President William McKinley REPORE HE WAS SWORN IN.

President Housevelt's Arrival and His Vidt to the House of Mourning.

Suprato, N. V., Sept. 14.-Theodore Rosevelt arrived at the Terrace station of the New York Central railroad at 135 o c'ock this afternoon. He had had a hard b bany, and then a swift rush across the State by special train, but his bronzed at once prepared to return to Buffais.

When Mr. Roosevelt reached North from the train to the platform. He looked grave and saddened, but not in the least to see him, but it was not in the plans to gratify the crowd with the spectacle. Precisely for the purpose of avoiding any demonstration it was arranged that the train should stop at the Terrace station where President Roceavelt was met by Mr. Ansley Wilcox and Mr. George Williams with Mr. Williams's carriage. A detachment of the Fourth Signal Corps, mounted, and a squad of twenty mounted police

THE WILCOX HOMB.

With the police and military moving at rapid trot in front of and behind the carriage, the President drove swiftly up Delaware avenue to the Wilcox house, which now has become one of the historical mansions of the country.

It is a brick house, painted white, with a row of six stately pillars in front of a deep veranda, in the style of half a century ago. It is in one of the most beautiful parts of beautiful Delaware avenue and is surrounded by tall overbranching trees, which throw a deep shade over the handsome lawn all the way down to the terrace, five and the Government you take the Con- or six feet high, which rises up from the sidewalk and on which elevation above the street the house stands.

It is not the old mansion's first experience in being identified with Government matters. Away back in the early part of the century it was used by the United States officers in command of the military post here, and stood in a large park or square that was a part of the military reservation. From between the stately pillars in the front of the house there hung to-day a large American flag.

CROWDS SILENT

A large crowd had gathered in the vicinity of the house as the President and his cavalcade came clattering up the avenue, and stood silently by as Mr. Roosevelt left the carriage and walked rapidly up the terrace steps and so on to the house. It has become a fixed habit with Buffalo crowds now to be silent a habit formed by the anxious watchers just beyond the rope barriers two blocks away from the to all gatherings of people in the city with only one very notable exception -the flerce angry throngs that two or three times have assembled in the vicinity of the prison where Czolgoez is confined, or where he was supposed to be confined, for he was very wisely and very adroitly removed when the President was dying and now is safely lodged within the walls of the

There was not so much as a murmu when the President alighted or when he reappeared a short time afterward to start for the Milburn house.

DISMISSES MILITARY PROVIDE

Mr. Roosevelt went to the house where tary were lining up to follow him he called upon them in a short, sharp command to 'Halt.' Then he said that he would only have two policemen go with him.

So this arrangement was made with a mounted policeman on each side of his carriage he drove off up the avenue toward the house that was nearly a mile

THE VISIT TO MRS. M'EINLEY

It was solely to pay his respects to Mrs. McKinley that the Vice-President made his visit to the Milburn house, and although nearly all the members of the Cabinet were there when he arrived it was only as private citizens mourning for a common friend

Roosevelt started back to the Wilcox house it was understood that he was to be followed "I should gladly shake hands with you | quickly by the Cabinet members, who were to take part in the ceremony of administering the oath as President. of the United States.

> Various rumors were current as to this eremony. It was even reported that the new President had been sworn in on his way down from the North Woods. It was very positively asserted that the oath but a crowd still hovered about Mr. Wilcox's residence and when the Vice-President reappeared there, fellowed a few momente later by Judge Hazel and the members of the Cabinet, the patient waiters knew that they had not erred in judgment and that they were at least to see the outside of a > over before these out in the street knew it had begun. They only knew that Theodore Roceevelt was the President of the United States when the people within the house came streaming out on the veranda and among them the members of the Cabinet, who singly and in pairs entered carriages and drove away.

house in which was being enacted a scene which would make it ever memorable in

ROOSEVELT'S TRIP TO BUFFALO.

Reached Albany From the Adirondacks at S A. M. and Buffalo at 1:84 P. M. ALBANY, Sept. 14 -- Theodore Roosevelt now President of the United States, left Albany for Buffalo at 8:03 o'clock this morning. He was accompanied by his private

The special which was sent into the Adirondacks yesterday for Mr. Roose-velt reached here a few minutes before 8 o'clock. Mr. Roosevelt, at s o'clock yesterday morning, left the Tahawus Club house with his boys on a bunting trip, and word of the change for the worse in the President's condition

If You Have Something Special to offer in Real Estate, it will be to your advantage to use Twit Star's advertising columns, which are tonguestionably the real medium through which to reach those living in Manhattan berough. Aut.

night's ride from the North Woods to Al- reached him on the top of Mount Creek this morning he received a arge number of telegraphic messages, many them being of an official character (of them, dated Washington, D. C. Sept. 14, The crowd that greeted him was a small of them, dated washington, D. C. Sept. 14, 1901, was from John Hay, who, as Secretary of State, officially not fied the Vice-President of the death at Buffalo, N. Y., of William Mckinney, President of the United States, and advised Mr. Roosevelt to

> Two hundred persons were in the New York Central Rauroad station when Mr Roc-evert's special pulled in A squar of police were on hand, but their services were hardly needed. The New York Central special was attached to the private car and Mr. Roosevelt was on his way to Baffato with a delay of but four or five pearance on the platform was air. Loop He announced that Mr. Rooseveit would see no one, nor did he care to have any newspaper men board the train under the Mr. Loeb said the buckboard travelling had been accomplished with three reasys of horses, and that although the road was dark and not of the best, good time was made without mishap.

The train before reaching Albany made it most eventful stop in an open stretch of country. A hand-our manned by two men was on the track. The special was tearing along in a thick fog. The men on the hand-our jumped and a minute later the car was hurled into a gitch. the superintendent hurried to the platform. Engineer Hydorn had got the train to a "Knecked a hand-oar off the track." was the report brought back. The train started up again. The derailing of the hand-car delayed the train fifteen minutes. AMSTERDAM. Sept. 14.—Vice-President Receivest passed through Amsterdam at 8.42 this morning. The train was running at the rate of about a mile a minute and had a clear track, passenger trains being run on the freight tracks to give the special the right of way.

STRACUSE. Sept. 14.—Theodore Rosse-velt's special train reached Syracuse on its way to Buffalo at 10:26 o'clock this morning, having covered the 148 miles from Albany in 153 trinutes.

R. CHESTER. Sept. 14.—The Rossevelt special train passed through Rochester at 12:15 P. M. It stepped here about four minutes for orders Mr. Rossevelt was lying down and would BUFFALO.—The Rossevelt special train arrived here at 1:34 P M.

WORD SENT TO PORTO RICO. Allen Performs His Last Official

Act in Announcing the Death. LOWELL, Mass., Sept. 14 .- Gov. Charles H. Allen of Porto Rico this morning sent an official message to the people of Porto Rico notifying them of the death of President. The Governor said:

This is my last official act as Govern Porto Rico. When I returned to Washington I told the President that I was going ington I told the President that I was going to resign at once. He kindly urged me to return, saying I could have a leave of absence. It was finally agreed that my resignation should take effect on Sept. 15.

"President McKinley has been a very good man to the people of Porto Rico. Because of my close personal friendship with him and through the suddenness of change in his condition the feeling over his death is at times overwhelming.

of change in his condition the feeling over his death is at times overwhelming.

"I believe the surgeons were confident of his recovery. It has been said that men shot as the President was have recovered. That is true, but if possible they were men of different temperament than President McKinley.

"Look at what he has had to disturb his mind since he was elected President. Take sione the Spanish was and the Chinese."

Look at what he has had to disturb his mind since he was elected President. Take alone the Spanish war and the Chinese difficulty. Notwithstanding all the diffi-culties through which he passed he was of cheerful disposition and it was a pleas-ure to meet him. The country has suf-fered a great lose, but I think the calamity will have a tendency to solve men's minds.

His Country May Well Be Proud. ELIZABETH, N. J., Sept. 14 .- Gov. Voorhees said to-day: "The President's death is a great calamity. Gloom comes with hopes not realized and prayers unanswered A pure-minded man and a noble patriot is dead, but the world is better because he lived. He had noble traits of character. He was generous, he was gentle, he was pure in his life. He longed for a country united in purpose. The happiness of its people was his great desire. He was road-minded, charitable in his views. His motives were lofty and his zeal for his country deep. He wrought that his people might be virtuous and powerful and that they might be great in their virtue and power. He gave his life in their service. He was a man firm in purpose, but his acts were marked with gentleness. He guided and controlled public affairs in a marked degree and made no lasting enmities. His grasp upon public affairs was great and he was a far-seeing statesman. His life is a legacy of which the people of his country may well be proud. lived. He had noble traits of character

try may well be proud.

Gov. Voorhees said he would issue a proclamation recommending a general cessation of business and that religious services be held in all of the churches in the State on the day of the funeral. This morning when the news reached Elizabeth all the church belis in the city were try may well be proud.

SECRETARY GAGES TRIBUTE. Regarded Mckinley as Superior to All the WASHINGTON, Sept. 14 .- Secretary Gage "It seems like mockery to attempt to eulogize him. No words can carry from one mind to another a proper understanding of that unique personality. He himself must be his best interpreter. His self must be his best interpreter. His acts, his utterances, with their indescribable charm, have made him known to the American people. Through this they understand and appreciate him. In their hearts can be found the love and the gratitude which his unselfish, untiring and affectionate devotion to his country justly inspire. If I speak of him it must be simply and without exaggeration. In an active inspire. If I speak of him it must be active and without exaggeration. In an active and without exaggeration are long period, years of close association with this man and a constant study of his mental and moral characteristics. I have come to regard him in the combined qualities which make a man truly great as the superior of all the men I have ever known. In his death our people are indeed stricken with PUNISHMENT FOR "GLAD" ONES. Italian Beaten in Westernport, Md. -Rose Musics a Man Recant.

CUMBERLAND, Md., Sept. 14 .- While sev ral citizens of Westernport, this county, were discussing the death of President Mckinley to-day Joseph Piscoperi, an Italian, remarked:

"I am glad he is dead, and I wish I had As quick as a flash he was struck in the face the blow breaking his now. He was beaten and kicked into insensibility. A mob is reported to be forming to deal summary punishment.

At Newburg, W Va., just west of Oak-lard, Md., last night William I, Stewart is alleged to have made the remark that Mckiniey 'ought to have been shot long ago.' This spread like wilsfire and a growd of 150 indicates citizen willing. crowd of 150 indignant citizens called a Stewart's house with a rope and jestled him to the Town Hall, where, quivering on his kness, he recented and was allowed

GREAT SHOCK TO WASHINGTON

UNIVERSAL GRIEF OVER THE DEATH OF THE PRESIDENT.

Belals Presaring for the State Funeral and the manguration of the New President-Simple Process of Turning Over the Government - No Need of an Extra Session of Congress Roosevelt Ex-

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14.-Washington city vas the Capital of the Nation to-day in name only. The Government of the United States is temporarily located in Buffalo, N. Y., where one President lies dead with no more sincere mourner at his bedside than his successor. Only two members of the Cabinet are here, the others who are active charge of executive affairs stand by the bier of their dead chief and issue the orders that are keeping in motion the Government machinery now under the administration of Theodore Roosevelt, who took the oath of office as President of the United States. The officials here are only carrying out the instructions issued

The people of Washington generally public officials as well as private citisens. appeared hore surprised and shooked and grieved when they learned at an early hour this morning that the President was dead than they were when the news came a week ago that he had been wounded by an assassin's bullet. The reaction after the hopeful assurances of the doctors was almost overpowering, but when once its full import was realized, every official of the Government, from the highest to the lowest, set himself bravely to the task of arranging for the state funeral of the dead President and the inauguration of the live one.

The most forforn and desolate spot all the city during the day, as it has been for the past week, was the Executive Man sien, where the clerical force sat gloomily reading the few bulletine that came over the telegraph wire and bemoaning the sad fate that had so swiftly overtaken the man who had been to them a personal friend as well as an official Chief. The servants of the White House have been for a week preparing to receive the Presidential family who had arranged to return direct to Washington instead of going to Canton from Buffalo. Now these faithful employees fear that their mistress as well as their master will never come back to the historic

By executive order issued at an early hour this morning all the Departments of the Government were closed to-day and the great army of officials, clerks and employees joined with the general population in mourning for the death of President. These executive workshops will be closed again on the day of the funeral but in the interim the work of the Government will be proceeded with as usual.

The process of turning the Government is so simple that it will hardly cause a jar the workings of the Government machinery. The simplicity of the procedure was well expressed by Chester A. Arthur in his first inaugural address on assuming the office of President after the death of the Republic," he said, "its Chief Magistrate has been removed by death. All hearts are filled with grief and borror at the hideous crime which has darkened our land, and the memory of the murdered President, his protracted sufferings, his unyielding fortitude, the example and achievements of his life, and the pathos of his death will forever illumine the pages of our history. For the fourth time the officer elected by the people and ordained by the Constitution to fill a vacancy so created is called to assume the Executive seeing the most dire possibilities, made sure that the Government should neve be imperilled because of the uncertainty fabrice of our free institutions remain unshaken. No higher or more assuring proof could exist of the strength and permanence of popular government than the be struck down, his constitutional successo is peacefly installed without shock or strain, except the sorrow which mourns the bereavement. words fit the case to-day and faithfully describe the situation as they did ther There will be no shock to the people of the country, except that caused by the news that McKinley, who was beloved by all the people, is dead. Under the law of Presidential succession passed after the tragic death of Garfield. Vice Presi dent Theodore Roosevelt became Presi dent of the United tSates at the moment President McKinley drew his last breath Although he may have performed no Exec-utive functions until after having taken the oath of office at Buffalo, there is no question in the minds of constitutional lawyers that the new President was fully qualified to do any Executive act at any time after the fermal announcement that the President was dead. There seems to be now no need whatever There seems to be now no need whatever for an extraordinary session of Congress, and it is the general opinion that there will be none. President Arthur, after issuing a proclamation announcing the death of Garfield, and calling upon the people of the United States to make the day of his funeral a day of mourning and worship, called an extraordinary seesion of day of his funeral a day of mourning and worship, called an extraordinary session of the Senate in order that the selection of a President Pro Tem. might be promptly made. Under the present law, however, Senator William Pitt Prye of Maine, who is now the President Pro Tempore of the Senate, will act in that capacity during President Roosevelt's term of office, he having been chosen to serve during the pleasure of the Senate.

No legislative act, therefore, is necessary to inaugurate Theedore Roosevelt President of the United Sistes. The new President will come to Washington as quietly as Chester A. Arthur did, when in the present month, twenty years ago, he modestly as Chester A. Arthur did, when in the present month, twenty years ago, he modestly went to the house of his friend, Senator Jones of Nevada, adjoining the Capitol grounds, and there waited the hour when the Chief Justice of the United States met him at the Capitol and administered to him for the second time the oath of office as President.

President McKinley had the admira-ion, the respect and the love of the people of Washington, among whom he had lived the people of Washington, among whom he had lived hearly all of his manhood, without regard hearly all of his manhood, without regard nearly all of his manhood, without regard to race, color or condition. He was a manly man and a friendly one, and it will be to a sorrowing city that his lifeless body will be brought on Monday night and he in state beneath the great dome of the Capitol. His remains will be placed upon the catafalque which first did service thirty-six years ago when Abraham Lincoin was carried to the tomb. The other distinguished men whose honored remains have rested upon this huge black-cloth-covered pine box were Thaddeus Stevens, Salmon P. Chase, Charles Sumner, Henry Wilson, James A. Garfield and John A. Logan. Since Gen Logan's death the catafalque has been stored beneath the dome of the Capitol, in the crypt that was originally intended as the final resting place of the body of George Washington. An old colored man, Buford C. ington. An old colored man, Buford C. Lee, the custodian of the crypt, and who served as a messenger for McKinley when he was in Congress, began to-day the work

THE SEN publishes an article of absorbing interest to those who rent apartments or flats, as well as those who have those properties to rent, on page 12.—Add.

close of the week the new Administration will have been smoothly and in all probability successfully launched under the guiding hand of President Theodore Roosevelt. When the Fifty-seventh Congress shall assemble in regular session in December next, the members will find a new pilot guiding the Snip of State, and it may be that there will be many changes in the crew who are to serve under him. When President Arthur became President her re-President Arthur became President he requested all the members of the Cabinet to remain in office until the meeting time to remain in office until the meeting time of Congress in December, and with the exception of Mr. Windom, who was afterward elected Senator from Minnesota, they did so. The resignations of each member of President McKinley's Cabinet will, of course, be handed to President Roosevelt at once, but no one knows now, probably not even the President himself, what action he will take.

Many of the men rhow members of the President's Cabinet are politically and personally the friends of Theodore Roosevelt, as they were of William McKinley.

personally the friends of Theodore Roosevelt, as they were of William McKinley. In a general way, in all natters of high importance, McKinley and Roosevelt were of one mind. McKinley's policy was Roosevelt's policy and may continue to be until the end. Roosevelt has been closely connected with the affairs of the Government as an executive officer since the day that McKinley became President, and there has always been the utmost cordiality between them and harmony of action. In the early days of McKinley's Administration, when confronted with the responsiuntil called to more active labors and higher honors in the cause of his country. With regard to all of the great questions is thought that the new President will do all that in his power lies to continue the all that in his power lies to continue the broad policy of his predecessor and reap the fruits of his high-minded and concientious statesmanship. In doing this, however, Roose velt gather about him a different set of men than those who have so ably and so loyally upheld the hands of McKinley. There seems little doubt that several if not all, of the present members of the Cabinet will voluntarily retire into private life, even though the new President should ask them to remain. They feel that the work for which they were appointed has

There appears to be nobody in Washington to-day competent to express a well-based opinion of what President Rosesvelt based opinion of what President Roosevelt will do in the direction of recasting his Cabinet, but it is the general opinion that he will ask the present Secretary of War. Elihu Root, to be the Premier of his Administration. The Secretary of State, John Hay would not have remained in office much longer had President McKinley lived. Now that he is dead, Mr. Hay will undeub'edly retire to the private life for which he has a strong liking. John D. Long the Secretary of the Navy, has also long ago determined not to remain in public life, and at one time he had formally announced his purpose to retire. Had he done so he would have been succeeded by Charles H. Allen of Massachusetts, then Assistant Secretary of the Navy and later Governor of Porto Rico. He will now undoubtedly return to his original determination. Beyond these almost certain changes in the Cabinet all at present is gossip and con-tation of the political campaign for the Presidential nomination in 1904, undestrable as this result may be. Had he continued to be Vice-President until the end of the term he would certainly have been a formidable candidate for the nomination. What change will be made in his political fortunes by the tragedy that has made him prematurely Chief Magistrate of the Nation, remains to be seen.

THE PUNERAL ARRANGEMENTS Body to Be Taken to Washington on Mon day -Military Guard to Go With It. WASHINGTON, Sept. 14.-Gen. Gillespie, acting Secretary of War, this afternoon received the following telegram from Col. Buffalo this morning:

ing at 8:50 for Washington via Pennsylvanta Railroad and Harriaburg: will arrive before 10 at night. If possible, the body will lie in the East Room on Monday night. Mrs. McKinley and family will sleep in the Executive Mansion. Tuesday morning removal to Capitol to lie in state till Wednesday; probably 2 P. M., when train will leave for Canton, via Harrisburg and Pittsburg. Please give my office After end of Cabinet conference Secretary will have further word for Washington Immediately on the receipt of this de spatch Gen Gillespie, the acting Secretary General, conferred about the preliminary steps to be taken. Capt. John A. Wisser commanding the troops at Buffalo, was notified to place himself under President Roosevelt's orders Gen. Brooke has also been ordered to Buffalo and on his arrival there will provide for a military guard to accompany the remains to Washington. This guard will be composed of a part of a company of Coast Artillery and probably a company of marines and blue jackets Upon the request of acting Secretary of the Navy Hackett, Col. Ward has telegand inceration and cures female weakness.

"When I farst wrote to Doctor Nerce concerning my health," says Mrs Moille R Carpenter, of Limeria Cumberhoad Co. Tenn., "I was so weak I could only write a few words until I would have to rest, was so weak I could hardly walk. Words cannot express my sufferings dimness of sight, palpitation, shortness of hreath, black spects or else shining lights before my eyes, terrible headache, numbness in my arms and hands and tongae, also my laws would get numb; constipation, felling of the uterns, disagreeable drates, sorrough my bewels in fact I was diseased from head to foot. Now I can do my own washing and cooking. I can take a ten quart pell in one hand and asia quart pall in the other (fall of water), and carry both one-fourth of a skile and never stop to rest. I am as heavy as I was at 19 wears 128 pounds. I used thirty bottles of Favorsite Prescription and Golden Medical Dissovery and twenty five visits of Fleasant Pellets."

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, paper covers, is sent free on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps to pay of dusting off the catafalque and arranging it to be placed in the rotunda of the Capitol on Monday. On Tuesday the, body of President McKinley will he in state at the Capitol, on Weednesday it will be taken to his modest home in Ohio and buried there, and by the close of the week the new Administration will have been a monthly and in all probability and in all probability.

R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

A full line of Solid Colors in our Celebrated Tailor Made Doeskin Flannel Walsts.

SIZES 30 TO 44 IN THE FOLLOWING SHADES:-

Nile Green. Turquo'se Blue, Hunter's Green, Coaching Tan,

Scarlet. Black, Marine Blue,

Hussar Blue, Havana Brown Cadet Blue, French Gray,

Crimson. Cardinal, Heilotrope Purple.

The Correct Walst for School, Golf, Street, House, Yachting, Outing, Mountain, Travelling, &c. These Waists are simply unapproachable in style and quality.

JOHN FORSYTHE.

THE WAIST HOUSE, 865 Broadway,

Mall Orders Carefulty Filled. Write for Sample graphed Col. Theodore Bingham asking how many marines and blue jackets will be needed. There is a company of marines now at Buffalo and they will probably

Upon the arrival of the remains in Wash ngton they will be received at the depot by the officials and a military escort, con-sisting of a field battery from the Washingsisting of a field battery from the Washington Barracks and a squadron of the Fourth Cavairy at Fort Myer

While no definite arrangements have been made for the President's funeral ceremony in Washington, it is known that the arrangements of President Garfield's funeral will be closely followed.

The Bureau of Navigation, acting under instructions from acting Secretary

The Bureau of Navigation, acting under instructions from acting Secretary Hackett, telegraphed to Newport News to the commanding officer of the Illinois, ordering a company of bluejackets, num-bering fifty men, to Washington to form part of the funeral escort from the depot to the Cacitol Orders were also sent to part of the funeral escort from the depot to the Capitol. Orders were also sent to the Michigan at Cleveland to process at once to Buffalo and furnish a company of bluejackets to form part of the escort from Buffalo to Washington. Ten blue-jackets have also been ordered from New York to Buffalo.

Major Sylvester, Chief of the Washing-ton police, is already making prepara-major Sylvester. Chief of the making prepara-tions for the crowds that will surround the Capitol if the President's body shall lie in state there and to guard against lie in state there and to guard against probable Anarchists and cranks. Immediately on hearing of the President's death Major Sylvester revoked the leaves of absence of all members of the department and directed that the flags upon all police buildings be placed at half-mast. While his arrangements are well under way, they cannot be completed until he is advised of the funeral arrangements. If he considers it necessary he will draw upon the emergency fund for the employment of detectives from other cities to assist the local men in handling the crowds that are sure to come to the city to the funeral. are sure to come to the city to the funeral. Major Sylvester hopes to beable to avoid the employment of outside men, as it will involve a deficiency in the emergency fund which has already been heavily drawn

Assistant Secretary Taylor of the Treasury Department, who has jurisdiction of the Government buildings throughout the country, has received scores of telegrams asking permission to drape the buildings in mourning. The law prohibits the draping of public buildings and the expenditure of any public funds for that purpose. Secretary Taylor, however, gave the required permission where it was specifically stated that the work was to be done at private

DEPARTMENTS CLOSED.

Col. Rossevelt and Foreign Ministers. WASHINGTON, Sept. 16 .- At an early hour this morning Secretary Hay went to the State Department from his home on Lafaarranged for a conference with Secretary of the Treasury Gage, the only other Cabinet of the Treasury Gage, the only other Cabinet officer in Washington, Assistant Secretary of the Navy Hackett and Acting Secretary of War Gillespie, Chief of Engineers of the Army. It was at once agreed to issue an order closing all Executive departments, and on the day of the funeral. It took effect at once. This despatch had already

North Creek, N. Y.

The President died at 2:15 o'clock this morning John Hay.

Secretary of State.

At 10 A. M. no reply had been received from the Vice-President. As soon as Mr. Roosevelt is put into communication with Secretary Hay arrangements will be made for promulgation that the production is the production of the production of the production in the pr Secretary Hay arrangements will be made for promulgating the proclamation that Roosevelt has assumed the office of Presi-dent. This proclamation must, of course, be signed by Mr. Roosevelt, so the date of its issuance is uncertain. When Garfield died on Sept. 19, 1881, President Arthur's proclamation was not issued until three date in the New 22.

days later, Sept. 22.

It is probable that if Mr. Roosevelt de cides to come to Washington to take the oath of office after being sworn in in New York State or eisewhere, thief Justice Fuller may be asked to come from his summer place at Sorrento, Me., to administer it The following circular note was sen to the foreign representatives accredited to the Government of the United States: *DEPARTMENT OF STATE, WASHINGTON, Sept. 14, 1901

*STR: It is my painful duty to announce to you the death of William McKinley, President of the United States, in the city of Buffalo, at fifteen minutes past 2 in the morning of to-day, Sept. 14. "Laid low by the act of an assassin, the week-long struggle to save his life has been watched with keen solicitude, not alone by the people of this country who raised him from their own ranks to the high office he filled, but by the people of all friendly nations, whose messages of sympathy and hope, while hope was pos-sible, have been most consolatory at this time of sore trial.

Now that the end has come, I request you to be the medium of communicating the sad tidings to the Government of the honored nation you so worthily represent, and to announce that, in obedience to the prescriptions of the Constitution, the officer of President has devolved upon Theodore Roosevelt, Vice-President of the United States.

"Accept, sir, the renewed assurance of my highest consideration.

"Joun Hay, Secretary of State."
Referring to the order closing the Executive departments, Secretary Gage said:

"I have learned that on the occasion of the death of President Garfield the departments." ments were closed for a week, or unit after the day of the funeral. It was th judgment of Secretary Hay and mys-that this precedent should not be followe literally, but that the executive business of the Government should stop only to-day and on the day of the funeral. If we could receive the wishes of William McKinley in this matter to-day they would un-doubtedly be that the public business should continue without any interruption whatever.

"I am gone," he would say, but the work of the Government should not cease for a moment." It is proper that we should show a mark of respect to him by ceasing from labor for a day or two and we that we must do it. But a week is too much and would fail in the only purpose for which intended—namely as a mark of respect for the memory of our late President.

Secretaries Hay and Gage received word shortly before 10 o'clock that President Rocevelt had left Saratoga and would

Little or no news is being received at the White House, and the place is practi-cally deserted except for the presence of the cierical staff. Nearly all of the

The Apolian can be played by any one trre spective of musical training. Selections from all the grand and light operas may Dance music available at a moment's notice mencing onday, September 16, a complete assortment of Acoluns at reduced prices.

SLIGHTLY USED

AT REDUCED PRICES.

These instruments are not newthey have all been in use, having been taken in exchange for higher priced styles, but that very fact is significant of the estimation in which Acolian is held by those who have had the instruments in their order, and repolished so that in th majority of instances they cannot be distinguished from entirely new to-The cost of the Acolian causes many of its appreciators to deny themselves the constant source of pleasure which comes with its possession. It deters este enables one to obtain an Acollar at a greatly reduced price. There which have been loaned to customer while waiting for special designs of cases. This special sale will last ton weeks only. Among the instruments offered Regular Specia Aceilan Strie 1800..... Aceitan Style 1000.....

A discount of 10 per cent for seek will be

AEOLIAN COMPANY

high officers of the Government are about from town, but all of them will now baster

MESSAGES OF CONDOLENCE From the King of England, Emperor of

Germany and President of Prance WASHINGTON, Sept. 14.-Messages of condolence and sympathy with the Ameri can people in their bereavement for their dead President have already begun to arrive at the State Department from abroad Among those received this morning were cablegrams from King Edward of England Emperor William of Germany and Presi-

Emperor William of Germany and President Loubet of France. The Japanese Minister and Haytien Minister called at the State Department and personally expressed to Secretary Hay their sorrow. The messages follow:

From the King of England:
London, Sept. 14—I have recoved the following message from the King: Most truly do I sympathize with you and the whole American nation at the lose of your distinguished and ever-to-be-regretted President.

From the Franch Charge d'Affaires:
MANCHESTER, Mass., Sept. 14.—Deply afflicted at the sad news which has reached me, I share earnestly in the intense grief of the Federal Government and of the people of the United States.

people of the United States. Prom the Princes of Hobeniche and Schwarzburg and the Duke of Melningen:
Cosura, Sept. 14.—Prince Regent Beleniche, Prince Schwarzburg, Duke Melningen and their Governments desire me

Prom the French Minister for Foreign Panis, Sept. 14—I beg your Excellency to accept the sincere and keen condolence of the French nation and Government who are with all their heart in the mourning of the nation and Government of the United DELCASSE.

om the British Charge d'Affaires. From the British Charge d'Affaires: NewPORT, R. I., Sept. 14.—With feeling f intense regret I offer to the United States of intense regret I offer to the United States to vernment my most heartfeit condolence on the death of the President. Lowther From the Minister of Guatemala.

Dres Park Hotel, Md. Sept. 14 — With great regret I hear of President's death My Government and myself accompany you with their deepest sympathy and deplace this great loss. A Lazo Arriago. From Gen. Wood at Havana:

I desire to express to you in the name of the American army of occupation and of the Cuban people our profound sorreward sense of loss on account of the death of President McKinley.

LEONARD wood, Governor General.

The following despatch from Capt. Perry of the loves, at Panama, was received the loves, at Panama, was received day at the Navy Lepartment:

The officials and men of love are over helmed with grief, learning of death of resident. Monamey."

FLAGS. MOURNING GOODS, BUNTING FLASS, ALL SIZES. FLACS, POLES

and HOLDERS. DRAPED PORTRAITS

JOHN C. HOPKINS & CO., 110 Chambers St. Tel. 2653 Frankille